66th Year-253

CHURCHILL WINS BRITISH ELECTION

NO FOUNTAINS PLAY on its grounds, nor are there any marble-floored rooms for conferees. Instead, a stark countryside surrounds the scene of the full-scale resumption of Korea war truce talks. It's just outside Panmunjon, and this aerial view shows the tent in which the historic armistice negotiations are being held after they were abruptly ended in Kaesong Aug. 22.

Reds Abandon Parallel 38 Demand, But Offer New Plan

MUNSAN, Oct. 26—The Communists today abandoned their insistence on a 38th Parallel truce line across Korea, but demanded a buffer zone which would require "unilateral" Allied retreats up to 15 miles.

Rejecting a United Nations plan for a cease-fire belt generally following the battlefield, the Reds counter-proposed a line involving UN sacrifice of 900 square miles.

The Communists offered, in exchange, to give up 500 square miles of territory on the far western Ongjin peninsula.

Under the Red scheme, the UN forces would retain possession of more than 1,000 square miles extending more than 30 miles inside Communist North Korea. The Reds thus dropped their long-standing demand for an armistice zone astride Parallel 38.

The Communist counter-proposal was submitted at a second no man's land meeting of a joint subcommittee at Panmunjon.

Scheduled for 11 o'clock Saturday morning (9 p. m. Friday EST) was a third session at which the Allies are expected to reject the Red plan and perhaps offer a new proposal.

The armistice line suggested by the Reds would run five miles south of Kaesong and thus leave the Communists in possession of that major South Korean rail-highway center, Kaesong, former site of the truce parley, is two miles below the 38th Parallel.

The Communist proposal calls for UN military retreats along a 100-mile front from such key positions as the Punchbowl, "Heart-break Ridge, Bloody Ridge, and the Iron Triangle cities of Kumhwa and Chonwon.

Such proposed withdrawals from defensible high ground, won after grueling struggles and at considerable cost in casualties, were characterized by one UN

Mild Weather Over Weekend Is Promised

Ohio will get another reprieve from cold weather over the weekend.

The forecaster said the high pressure system which brought in cool winds the last few days has moved east.

However, the threat of onrushing winter was very real last night, especially in the middle and southern parts of the state, where the mercury dropped to 30 degrees in Zanesville and to 32 degrees in the Chesapeake area. It was 34 in Circleville.

Following is the weather bureau's five-day outlook:

"Temperatures will average 2 to 4 degrees above normal. Rather cloudy and mild Saturday and Sunday. Cooler Monday and Tuesday, and warmer again by Wednesday. Light rain is expected by Sunday and moderate showers on Monday. Total rainfall amount will be one-half to one inch."

Red Casualties In Korea Now Total 1,414,635

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 — The Army estimated today that the Communists in Korea suffered 41,406 casualties between Oct. 10 and Oct. 20, bringing their total losses in the war to 1,414,635.

Only 235 prisoners, 222 of them Chinese, were taken during the 10-day period. Against this, the Army said the enemy suffered just over 67,000 battle casualties in dead and wounded, and 6,160 non-battle casualties.

Of the total enemy casualties since the start of the war, 691,333 have been suffered by the North Koreans and 723,302 by the Chinese Communists.

United Nations casualties are estimated at about one-third of the Communists. The latest official total for American casualties is 92,997.

Game Protector Seeks Person Who Battered Bunny

Pickaway County Game Protector Clarence Francis toured Circleville with blood in his eye Friday.

The game protector was heated to the boiling point by an incident which happened during the Circleville-Greenfield football game Thursday night.

Cause of the incident was a wild rabbit, which darted onto the playing field late in the game, bounded to the south side and sought an escape.

Finding only a solid wall of humanity confronting it, the bunny circled the west end of the field and tried to wriggle through the fence at the northwest end.

There, lost to the view of much of the crowd, the bunny was battered by a sideline and its rear legs were broken. It flopped helplessly back onto the field in the west goal zone. It was later reported dead.

"I WASN'T there," Francis said Friday, "but what happened sounds like the most unsportsmanlike thing I have ever heard."

"I have received about 25 calls so far asking why I don't do something about it. Believe me, if I find whoever it was he'll be on the carpet."

Although several hundred persons saw the incident, the reports vary in scope. One is that a young boy crippled the rabbit, another was that it was a man.

But one thing seems constant: whoever did it got a severe chastising from a woman standing nearby in the form of actual blows.

Lad Imprisoned 4 Days In Sealed Railroad Car

Two Circleville men cracked the seal of a loaded boxcar near Columbus Thursday and released a 16-year-old lad who had been a prisoner in the car for four days.

Gus Graf and Bob Phillips, in performing their regular grain inspection jobs Thursday, discovered the lad in a boxcar loaded with shelled corn.

The youngster was identified as Ruley Adkins, 16, a patient in Orient State School.

Graf said he and Phillips were opening cars along the New York Central line at Farmers Cooperative elevator east of Columbus when they heard a tapping sound down the line.

The men paid no particular attention, believing it to be the hammering of railroaders posting new route cards on the cars.

However, when they broke the seal of the car in question they were greeted by a shout from the imprisoned lad.

Graf said the boxcar in which

SCHUMAN MAKES NEW MOVE

British Election To Play Big Role In World Future

LONDON, Oct. 26—Outcome of the British general elections, whatever may be its immediate and future fate on the people of Britain themselves, promises to bring about a major development in world affairs.

There is a "speedup" in various moves for European integration, rearmament, self-support and widened cooperation. All have been bogged down for months by the uncertainty in Britain.

First, for many weeks it was a highly-debated question just when Labor Party Leader Clement Attlee would call the elections. When his decision was made for Oct. 25, it was clear he felt this was the most propitious time and that his chances might flag if he delayed.

Second, there was the indecisive attitude of the voters until the time actually came to go to the polls.

THIRD, THE elections were needed to bring many obscure factors out into the open. And political recriminations which may follow the balloting probably will not serve as much of a brake upon the vast and ponderous movements set in motion immediately after the second world war in an effort to cure Europe's ills on an over-all scale.

Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France, sensing the inevitability that the air would be cleared by the British electorate to some degree at least, spoke out even before the polling places closed.

He told a luncheon gathering in Paris that he will ask the Council of Europe to create a political "supranational" authority as the basis for a united Europe.

Schuman said he was acting at the suggestion of Secretary of State Dean Acheson and British Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison.

Further, Schuman took cognizance of both British Conservative and Laborite opposition to Communism by announcing that he will press for Italy's admission to the United Nations despite Soviet Russia's past vetoes and threats of more.

HE MADE CLEAR his determination in this respect by saying the matter would be placed first before the Security Council and, if vetoed there, before the General Assembly "to show the world what proportion of nations favor Italy's admission."

"We will not yield," he added, "to a veto pronounced in violation of the spirit of the charter."

As one of the principal workers for European unity, Schuman will be in a highly strategic position when the assembly meets in his capital of Paris on Nov. 6.

The barrage of epithets, charges and counter-charges with which the British election ended does not furnish a hopeful guarantee, to be sure, that just because people speak the same tongue they think alike or are necessarily sympathetic toward one another.

But at least the Democratic system has been upheld again in free balloting and the nations of Continental Europe—both West and East—cannot help but profit somehow from the example.

DEFENSE NEEDS OUTLINED

Consumer Goods Output To Be Rough During 1952

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26—The government indicated today that the voluntary freeze on color television may remain in effect for at least one year and possibly longer.

Production officials also disclosed the government is preparing to prevent manufacturers from changing models of automobiles and consumer durable goods after the early months of 1952.

In addition, there are indications that the period of austerity in civilian production will be stretched further than previously contemplated by mobilization officials.

Defense Production Administrator Manly Fleischmann told reporters that 1952 "unquestionably will be the toughest year" of the defense program and he added that "it will be very difficult."

IN PREVIOUS statements, Fleischmann has said the first six months would be the "toughest." He has also expressed the hope that aluminum and steel supplies would increase by mid-1952 to provide a boost in civilian production.

The outlook now, however, is that new aluminum production will not show up until later in the year and that steel output is threatened by scrap shortages and other problems.

Fleischmann said he could not estimate when the government would permit manufacturers to start production on color television receiving sets for home use.

He pointed out that the supply of copper is "troublesome" and added that it will take two years before production can be substantially increased.

The outlook on the supply of these materials led some officials to the conclusion that color TV may not be available to the public until next Fall at the earliest.

FLEISCHMANN said the government would allow auto manufacturers to turn out new models now being readied for display early next year.

He declared that this policy also applies to manufacturers of refrigerators, washing machines, home appliances and other consumer durable goods.

After that, however, any company planning a major model changeover will have to postpone it for six to eight months and possibly longer because of the severe shortage of machine tools needed in that kind of operation.

Hope Said Slim For Breaking Of Shipping Strike

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—Hopes of an early end of the wildcat longshoremen's strike were pinned today on action by President Truman or collapse of the walkout through lack of support for the strikers.

In addition to paralyzing New York shipping and affecting Boston docks, the walkout threatens to spread further all along the eastern seaboard from Maine to Virginia.

No piers in Jersey City or Hoboken were operating today, not even for military cargoes.

Federal mediators gave up their efforts to mediate the intra-union dispute which has paralyzed the port of New York and piled up $25 million of shipping daily since the work stoppage began Oct. 15.

Top trouble-shooter Clyde M. Mills of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service announced withdrawal of the government panel last night after two fruitless days of trying to solve the dispute.

President Truman has given no indication whether he will declare a national emergency to get the stockpiled freight moved and appoint a fact-finding board to study the situation.

Federal Mediation Director Cyrus S. Ching may ask the chief executive to step into the picture after he gets a report from Mills.

WINSTON CHURCHILL, big cigar and all, again is the leader of Great Britain as the result of elections held Thursday. A Conservative victory brought the ouster of the Laborite-Socialist cabinet and a probable complete reversal in the Liberal policies followed by England in recent years.

PROGRAM SLOWED SHARPLY

New Test Being Readied On Atom Proving Grounds

LAS VEGAS, Oct. 26—Another test—atomic or otherwise—was readied today on the Frenchman's Flat atom testing grounds with the passing of bad weather from Nevada's desert nuclear experiment site.

The Army and the Atomic Energy Commission, far behind in their joint schedule to experiment with what in time may become atomic artillery and new methods of land warfare, studied weather charts and hoped to get on with the demonstrations.

There has not been a test involving fissionable material since the first "baby" A-bomb was detonated atop a 100-foot tower last Monday morning.

Present hopes center around conducting at least one more test of the midget bomb and perhaps another involving troops of the Third Corps—with TNT as the explosive—before the momentous meeting between GIs and splitting atoms.

THE ADJOURNMENT of Congress last week has some bearing on the scheduled atomic war games, inasmuch as a number of members of the House and Senate, particularly those on the Joint Atomic Energy Committee, were invited to attend the maneuvers.

The AEC, in "regretting that it is not possible" to offer any guidance to correspondents on hand, so that they may report more effectively on the test operations, formally announced today that five categories of information are subject to control for reasons of national security:

1. All information having to do with weapon design, nuclear composition, method of functioning or possible method of employment as a weapon.
2. Weapon effects information not previously released which may reveal information on weapon design, functioning, or yield.
3. Nuclear, metallurgical and chemical data—including instrumentation—also applicable in phases of the national atomic energy program other than the field of weapons.
4. INFORMATION dealing with the military significance of an experiment, the ultimate use of a nuclear device under test or the military potential of weapons under development, and the military plans with respect to atomic weapons.
5. Test information of both technical and non-technical nature—including the (exact) time of shots—which may assist agents of a rival power in obtaining or in evaluating data dealing with any of the foregoing categories, or in connection with attempted sabotage.

5 Migs Are Hit By Yank Pilots In Three Duels

KOREA, Oct. 26—American jet pilots shot down or damaged five Soviet-type Mig-15 jets over North-west Korea today in a renewal of large-scale aerial fighting.

None of the American jets was reported damaged or lost in three battles that swirled all the way from the Yalu river border between Korea and Manchuria down to the vicinity of Pyongyang, 110 miles to the south.

The jet duels were announced by the Fifth Airforce as bitter Red ground resistance held attacking United Nations troops to only small gains on North Korea's central and western fronts.

The Airforce bulletin listed two of the swooping Mig fighters as definitely destroyed and three damaged. The number of planes involved in the streaking dogfights was not immediately announced.

The new air battles came after enemy jet activity had dwindled Thursday, with one Mig damaged, following massive jet fighting during the preceding four days.

Since Nov. 8, 1950, when the Russian-type Migs were first encountered over Korea, the Fifth Airforce said, Allied airmen have destroyed 98 of the enemy jets, probably shot down 20 others and damaged another 207.

Allen County Republicans Ask Sheriff To Quit

LIMA, Oct. 26—Allen County Republicans are calling upon the county's Republican sheriff to turn in his badge.

Directors of the Allen County Republican Club told Sheriff W. Ray Daifley that he should tender his resignation "in the interests of good government."

The club president, R. L. Krabath, explained the action as a move by at least a segment of the local party leadership to put responsibility to community ahead of politics.

This was the latest phase of a long smoldering dispute which broke into official notice Sunday when County Prosecutor Anthony J. Bowers launched a series of gambling spot raids.

The sheriff arrested two constables while they were investigating a suspected gambling joint for Bowers and held them until Bowers secured their release.

The Republican club claimed the sheriff knew of gambling equipment and did nothing about it. The club said further that the prosecutor felt he could not trust the sheriff and that he must conduct his own raids.

Majority To Be Slim, But Enough

6 Years Of Socialism Ended By Voters

LONDON, Oct. 26 — Winston Churchill and his Conservative Party toppled the Labor government from power today after more than six years of socialist rule, but chances of a strong Tory majority in the new parliament were slim.

The Conservative Party obtained a definite majority over all other parties of 15 votes although Churchill lagged behind Prime Minister Attlee's bloc in total popular vote.

At 4:45 p. m., the Conservative bloc had won the 313 seats necessary to give them control in parliament.

The various party figures at this time stood:

Conservative	313
Laborite	293
Liberal	5
Others	1

PARTY SCORES in gains and losses when 14 constituencies were still to be heard from:

Party	Gains	Losses
Conservative	23	1
Labor	3	22
Liberal	1	4

The incomplete popular vote, which lagged behind the seat count, was:

Conservatives	13,359,465
Laborites	13,598,695
Liberals	687,675

Other parties had polled an aggregate popular vote of 129,567.

The authoritative British Press Association said that the Conservatives, as the strongest single party, will form a new government.

The agency said that a large number of the areas whose vote has not been announced are regarded as "safe" for Laborites.

However, Attlee left 10 Downing Street to call on King George to-night and relinquish his office. Later, Churchill probably will be called in and named Attlee's successor.

Churchill is expected to announce the composition of his new cabinet Monday. For weeks, he has had a "shadow cabinet" standing by, consisting of his most prominent supporters of the past, all of whom are believed to have been returned successfully to the House of Commons.

IN LAST YEAR'S election, the Laborites squeezed into their second postwar victory with a majority of seven votes, and at one time this was reduced to three.

It was an unpredictable election, with both Churchill and Attlee confident of the outcome.

Things began to look black for the Laborites and their nationalization program, however, when the first ballot-counting ended in the early hours of the morning.

At that time Attlee and his frequently split party group, with former Health Minister Aneurin (Continued on Page Two)

'Several More' Tax Men Due For Exposure, Claim

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26—A congressional source predicted today that "several more" internal revenue collectors will probably be forced to quit as a result of tax scandal investigations.

The source said the special House subcommittee probing the revenue bureau's field offices has unearthed information which, when made public, will likely cause another resignation, dismissal or suspension.

He added that still other tax collectors may be compelled to leave their posts as a result of the subcommittee's investigation.

Internal Revenue Bureau Commissioner John B. Dunlap said yesterday he anticipates no additional resignations or dismissals. But, when told of this, the congressional source, who refused to be identified, commented:

"He's treading on dangerous ground when he says that."

SIX INTERNAL revenue collectors have left their offices this year. Two were fired in New York and Boston, two suspended in Nashville and San Francisco, and two resigned under fire in St. Louis and Brooklyn.

The collectors in Boston and St. Louis were subsequently indicted on charges of accepting bribes.

Bingo Game Brings Arrest Of Trio

PAINESVILLE, Oct. 26 — Three trustees of a Veterans of Foreign Wars post in Painesville are awaiting sentence on their conviction for permitting bingo games in the post building.

A jury returned the verdict within 20 minutes after Judge Albert W. Hazer advised them yesterday that "bingo played for money is gambling."

The men are Max Robert, J. A. McCauley and William Henry of the Eastlake-Willoughby post.

It's just outside Panmunjom, and this aerial view shows the tent in which the historic armistice negotiations are being held after they were abruptly ended in Kaesong Aug. 22.

WOULD 'TAKE' MORE, 'GIVE' LESS Reds Abandon Parallel 38 Demand, But Offer New Plan

MUNSAN, Oct. 26—The Communists today abandoned their insistence on a 38th Parallel truce line across Korea, but demanded a buffer zone which would require "unilateral" Allied retreats up to 15 miles.

Rejecting a United Nations plan for a cease-fire belt generally following the battlefield, the Reds counter-proposed a line involving UN sacrifice of 900 square miles.

The Communists offered, in exchange, to give up 500 square miles of territory on the far western Ongjin peninsula.

Under the Red scheme, the UN forces would retain possession of more than 1,000 square miles extending more than 30 miles inside Communist North Korea. The Reds thus dropped their long-standing demand for an armistice zone astride Parallel 38.

The Communist counter-proposal was submitted at a second no man's land meeting of a joint subcommittee at Panmunjom.

Scheduled for 11 o'clock Saturday morning (9 p. m. Friday EST) was a third session at which the Allies are expected to reject the Red plan and perhaps offer a new proposal.

The armistice line suggested by the Reds would run five miles south of Kaesong and thus leave the Communists in possession of that major South Korean rail-highway center. Kaesong, former site of the truce parley, is two miles below the 38th Parallel.

The Communist proposal calls for UN military retreats along a 100-mile front from such key positions as the Punchbowl, "Heartbreak Ridge, Bloody Ridge, and the Iron Triangle cities of Kumhwa and Chorwon.

Such proposed withdrawals from defensible high ground, won after gruelling struggles and at considerable cost in casualties, were characterized by one UN delegation spokesman as "entirely unsatisfactory."

The official, Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, told newsmen at the Munsan armistice camp, however, that he was not speaking of the entire Red proposal but only of that portion suggesting the UN retreats.

A Friday night communique issued by the UN delegation at Munsan said the Red plan would require "a unilateral withdrawal by the UN command forces from militarily important positions along practically all of the present ground battleline."

"Today's proposal by the Communists," said the official bulletin, "bears little relationship to the present line of battle contact which was the basis of yesterday's UN command proposal."

The communique pointed out that under the Red plan the Allied troops would have to pull back as much as 15 miles along a 100-mile front. It added:

"In exchange for bitterly won military positions in the east, the Communists offer to withdraw their troops from sections of the Ongjin peninsula in the west which never have been of military importance."

The Reds thus offered to give up the South Korean portion of the Ongjin peninsula which juts into the Yellow Sea 22 miles below Parallel 38.

In their Thursday proposal at the first subcommittee session of the revived armistice negotiations, the Allies had offered to leave the Reds in possession of the entire Ongjin peninsula.

The Eighth Army, analyzing the enemy plan, said it would let UN troops keep more than 1,000 square miles of "presently occupied" North Korean territory while forcing them to yield 900 square miles.

Of the total enemy casualties since the start of the war, 691,333 have been suffered by the North Koreans and 723,302 by the Chinese Communists.

United Nations casualties are estimated at about one-third of the Communists. The latest official total for American casualties is 82,997.

KOREA, Oct. 26—American jet pilots shot down or damaged five Soviet-type Mig-15 jets over North-west Korea today in a renewal of large-scale aerial fighting.

None of the American jets was reported damaged or lost in three battles that swirled all the way from the Yalu river border between Korea and Manchuria down to the vicinity of Pyongyang, 110 miles to the south.

The jet duels were announced by the Fifth Airforce as bitter R-d ground resistance held attacking United Nations troops to only small gains on North Korea's central and western fronts.

The Airforce bulletin listed two of the sweeping Mig fighters as definitely destroyed and three damaged. The number of planes involved in the streaking dogfights was not immediately announced.

The new air battles came after enemy jet activity had dwindled Thursday, with one Mig damaged, following massive jet fighting during the preceding four days.

Since Nov. 8, 1950, when the Russian-type Migs were first encountered over Korea, the Fifth Airforce said, Allied airmen have destroyed 98 of the enemy jets, probably shot down 20 others and damaged another 207.

Bingo Game Brings Arrest Of Trio

PAINESVILLE, Oct. 26—Three trustees of a Veterans of Foreign Wars post in Painesville are awaiting sentence on their conviction for permitting bingo games in the post building.

A jury returned the verdict within 20 minutes after Judge Albert W. Hazer advised them yesterday that "bingo played for money is gambling."

The men are Max Robert, J. A. McCauley and William Henry of the Eastlake-Willoughby post.

Majority To Be Slim, But Enough 6 Years Of Socialism Ended By Voters

LONDON, Oct. 26—Winston Churchill and his Conservative Party toppled the Labor government from power today after more than six years of socialist rule, but chances of a strong Tory majority in the new parliament were slim.

The Conservative Party obtained a definite majority over all other parties of 15 votes although Churchill lagged behind Prime Minister Attlee's bloc in total popular vote.

At 4:45 p. m., the Conservative bloc had won the 313 seats necessary to give them control in parliament.

The various party figures at this time stood:

Party	Gains	Losses
Conservative	23	1
Labour	3	22
Liberal	1	4
Others	—	—

The incomplete popular vote, which lagged behind the seat count, was:

Party	Conservatives	Labour	Liberal	Others
Conservatives	13,359,465	13,598,695	687,675	—

Other parties had polled an aggregate popular vote of 129,567.

The authoritative British Press Association said that the Conservatives, as the strongest single party, will form a new government.

The agency said that a large number of the areas whose vote has not been announced are regarded as "safe" for Laborites.

However, Attlee left 10 Downing Street to call on King George tonight and relinquish his office. Later, Churchill probably will be called in and named Attlee's successor.

Churchill is expected to announce the composition of his new cabinet Monday. For weeks, he has had a "shadow cabinet" standing by, consisting of his most prominent supporters of the past, all of whom are believed to have been returned successfully to the House of Commons.

'Several More' Tax Men Due For Exposure, Claim

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26—A congressional source predicted today that "several more" internal revenue collectors will probably be forced to quit as a result of tax scandal investigations.

The source said the special House subcommittee probing the revenue bureau's field offices has unearthed information which, when made public, will likely cause another resignation, dismissal or suspension.

He added that still other tax collectors may be compelled to leave their posts as a result of the subcommittee's investigation.

Internal Revenue Bureau Commissioner John B. Dunlap said yesterday he anticipates no additional resignations or dismissals. But, when told of this, the congressional source, who refused to be identified, commented:

"He's treading on dangerous ground when he says that."

SIX INTERNAL revenue collectors have left their offices this year. Two were fired in New York and Boston, two suspended in Nashville and San Francisco, and two resigned under fire in St. Louis and Brooklyn.

The collectors in Boston and St. Louis were subsequently indicted on charges of accepting bribes.

Majority To Be Slim, But Enough

Bevan opposing some aspects of rearmament and cooperation with the United States, had 29 theoretical seats to their credit.

At the same time last year, when Attlee was forced to call new elections at expiration of his normal five-year term, the Laborites were 60 seats ahead.

Churchill, now 76, had asked for victory and his return to 10 Downing Street as the "last prize" in his long and colorful career.

He did not mean it as a "personal prize" but as the surest manner in which he could serve Britain and humanity and help stave off the danger of a third world war.

The "old warrior" now is ready for his summons to Buckingham Palace after Attlee submits his resignation. Churchill is prepared to move from the left side of the house where he has spent more than six bleak years as leader of "his majesty's loyal opposition" and take up his familiar place on the right bank beneath the speaker.

Churchill has had many triumphs in the past. From a purely personal viewpoint, this may prove to be one of the greatest.

Lad Imprisoned 4 Days In Sealed Railroad Car

The youngster was found had only about three feet of airspace above the five feet of shelled grain riding in the bottom and that the boy had removed his shirt, apparently because of the heat.

FRANKLIN County sheriff's department said the young man had been in the car since late Sunday, when it had been loaded at a granary near Orient.

"He ate like a hog after we got him out," one deputy said, "but otherwise he was none the worse for wear."

Graf said it was not unusual "to find things" inside the sealed grain cars.

"I've found chickens inside, pecking happily at the grain," Graf said, "and once I even found a skunk inside."

"But this is the first time I have ever found a man inside one of the cars," he said.

The Orient youngster was fed at the Franklin County sheriff's office and returned to the Orient school.

5 Men Sought For 'Rolling' Man For $66.80

Circleville police Friday were attempting to round up five men who reportedly "rolled" a 70-year-old Circleville man for $66.80.

According to a statement filed by the victim, he and the five men had been drinking wine last weekend in a south end residence.

His statement, on file with Po-

The man told police he entered the residence where the action happened with $67. When he awoke he had 20 cents, he said.

7 Persons Hurt In Pair Of Auto Accidents

Seven persons received minor injuries in two traffic mishaps which both happened at about 6:15 p. m. Thursday.

Six persons were injured when a pickup truck operated south on Route 674 near Marcy by Mrs. Clyde Cromley, 36, of Ashville Route 2, went out of control and overturned.

Deputy Sheriff Walter Richards said Mrs. Cromley reported the truck just went out of control, swerved to the right and turned over.

Injured in the crash were Mrs. Cromley, bruised knee and thigh; Joan Cromley, 12, bruised shoulder; Marlene Cromley, 9, cuts and bruises and shock; Bonnie Jean Cromley, 14, cuts and bruises; Donald Ray Cromley, 3, bruised ear, shock; and Marilyn Greeno, 14, cuts, bruises and shock.

THE OTHER mishap happened on Routes 104 and 22 about three miles west of Circleville.

Deputy James Diltz said an auto operated north on Route 104 by Eugene Baldwin, 21, of Lego, W. Va., disregarded a stop sign and struck the front end of a 1929 westbound auto operated by Harry West, 62, of Circleville Route 2.

The front end of the West car was badly damaged, Diltz added, while West himself suffered an injured left elbow.

Baldwin was fined $10 and costs later in the court of Magistrate Oscar Root for disregarding the stop sign, while West was fined $10 and costs in the court for driving without an operator's license.

Local Judge Makes Ruling On GI Allotments

A ruling that the amount of money contributed to a soldier's family allotment by the government is not a gift but part of his enlistment contract has been made by Judge William D. Radcliff in Pickaway County common pleas court.

The ruling, new in Ohio courts, was made in a hearing on a motion filed by Mrs. Russell Radcliff asking contempt action against Russell Radcliff for his failure to comply with a former divorce in 1942.

The order, issued Feb. 17, required him to pay $10 a week for current support payments and on an arrearage of $787.

The defendant, Russell, objected that the arrearage amount was not correct, that he should have credit for the money contributed by the government to the allotment he made to the plaintiff while he was in the armed forces.

JUDGE RADCLIFF said that a search failed to reveal any case law in Ohio on this point, but that the high courts of three states, Massachusetts, Tennessee and Arkansas, have ruled that the government's contribution is not a gift and that the soldier should have full credit for the total amount of the allotment paid for the support of his children.

Judge Radcliff reduced the arrearage amount due from the defendant from $787 to $430.82.

Lad Imprisoned 4 Days In Sealed Railroad Car

The youngster was found had only about three feet of airspace above the five feet of shelled grain riding in the bottom and that the boy had removed his shirt, apparently because of the heat.

FRANKLIN County sheriff's department said the young man had been in the car since late Sunday, when it had been loaded at a granary near Orient.

"He ate like a hog after we got him out," one deputy said, "but otherwise he was none the worse for wear."

Graf said it was not unusual "to find things" inside the sealed grain cars.

"I've found chickens inside, pecking happily at the grain," Graf said, "and once I even found a skunk inside."

"But this is the first time I have ever found a man inside one of the cars," he said.

The Orient youngster was fed at the Franklin County sheriff's office and returned to the Orient school.

5 Men Sought For 'Rolling' Man For $66.80

Circleville police Friday were attempting to round up five men who reportedly "rolled" a 70-year-old Circleville man for $66.80.

According to a statement filed by the victim, he and the five men had been drinking wine last weekend in a southeast residence.

His statement, on file with Police Chief William McCrady, say that he noticed the wine taste "bad" and began to get sick. He added that he wanted to leave, but the men would not let him.

The man told police he entered the residence where the action happened with $67. When he awoke later he had 20 cents, he said.

Child Problems and Solutions

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, PhD

The self-demand method of feeding infants enables the mother working with her pediatrician to ascertain the interval between feedings to which her baby is, naturally, best suited.

After a few weeks, the most desirable interval can easily be arrived at. Thereafter it is relatively easy to train the youngster to adapt himself to a reasonable schedule, though this may be wisely revised later from time to time.

Of course, a few infants fed when they seem to be hungry adapt themselves pretty early to a regular schedule. But not all do. Some turn their nights into days and demand food several times a night, even after they are one or two years of age.

A disturbing factor in good feeding procedures, especially with the breast-fed baby, may be lack in quantity and quality of natural food. This problem the pediatrician helps solve by recommending supplementary bottle feedings.

AS NEARLY as I can ascertain, most of the sleep problems growing out of self-demand feeding arise when mothers don't have the continual counsel of the pediatrician, and suppose that when he is advised feeding the infant when it is hungry during the first several days or weeks, he meant the youngster should so be fed at the age of 1, 2 or 3 years of age.

Unfortunately, some writers have given this same impression. Some other writers have carelessly said of the child as old as 2, 3 or 4 who often wakes at night, that he probably is hungry and should be fed, without considering what his eating intake and habits are by day.

Some children are hungry by night because they don't eat nearly enough by day or have not learned to enjoy the proper food. Some writers, too, having the very young infant in mind, though not making clear this fact, advise that when a youngster (some mothers suppose it could be a child of three or four) does not care for any particular food offered him, he should be given another or another until the food is found he will enjoy; they have even ridiculed any "starvation technique" as passe.

One mother writes: "My baby, 2 years old, seldom sleeps more than two hours at night, then wakes and cries till I give her a bottle. She refuses practically all other foods by day."

To which I wrote her, in part: Seek the advice of a pediatrician. Ask him to prescribe the proper food for this child by day.

UNLESS THE following should conflict with his advice, do this: At his regular meal by day, place a very small portion of a prescribed solid or semi-solid food before him. Don't spoon it into him. Let him eat it himself or not as he chooses. But give him no other food if he does not. Let him have no other food but fruit juice till his next regular meal when you should proceed in like fashion, offering first another essential food.

Never tell him he must eat any thing. Let him choose between what is offered and nothing. (My bulletins on eating and sleeping problems may be had in a stamped envelope sent me in care of this paper.)

Answering Parents' Questions

Q. When using chair-sitting as punishment, before letting the child leave the chair, shouldn't I remind him of the reason he was punished, warn him against repetition or even make him promise "not to do so" again?

A. No, unless you are sure the child clearly sees the reason for his punishment, don't give it in the first place. To make him promise not to repeat the offense can tempt him to lie. What else could he do but make the promise?

Q. When I call to our son out of sight but near, he does not come or answer.

A. Don't call to him. Go to where he is and tell him softly face to face what you wish to say. If you want him to go to a certain place give him this information in a moderate tone and try to win him to go. If this fails merely pick him up and take him.

Candlelight, Fall Flowers Decorate Lutheran Church For Morgan-Hicks Ceremony

Reception Held In Parish House

The soft glow of candlelight on white, yellow and orange chrysanthemums arranged with fernery, decorating the altar in Trinity Lutheran church, was the setting for the wedding of Miss Mary Katherine Morgan and Edward Thomas Hicks.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. George L. Troutman at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, following a half-hour of nuptial music sung by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Edward See of Columbus, a former resident of Circleville, and Mrs. Karl Herrmann at the organ. Aisle pews were marked with 'rums tied with white satin ribbon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt Morgan of East Main street and the bridegroom the son of Mrs. Patrick K. Hicks of Columbus and the late Mr. Patrick Hicks.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a gown of white tulle, trimmed with layers of white Chantilly lace. The full skirt terminated into a long cathedral train and her veil of French illusion was fastened to a tiny hat, banded with orange blossoms and white satin ribbon. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace and she carried a white prayer book topped by an arrangement of gardenias and red rose buds.

Mrs. Leo Morgan, who served her sister-in-law as matron of honor, was wearing a gown of yellow tulle with matching cap and veil. She carried a bouquet of orange chrysanthemums. Bridesmaid was Miss Marjorie Francis, gowned in aqua tulle with matching cap and veil. Her flowers were a bouquet of yellow 'mums. Both attendants were wearing necklaces, gifts of the bride.

Master Larry Morgan, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer. Samuel Hicks of Cincinnati, served as best man for his brother and guests attending the open-church wedding were seated by Leo Morgan, brother of the bride, John Beasley and James Bonham, both of Columbus.

Mrs. Morgan greeted her guests for the reception held in the parish house, wearing a navy blue dress and hat with a corsage of red rose buds. Mrs. Hicks wore a two-piece suit of toast brown with a corsage of yellow rose buds.

White and yellow chrysanthemums were used to decorate the parish house for the reception and hostesses were Miss Mary Louise Beck, Miss Jean Howell and Mrs. Melvin Struckman.

Out of town guests at the wedding and reception were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clendenen and daughter, Arlene of Ashland, Ky.; Mrs. Amye Noteman and Mr. and Mrs. Luttrell Fladt of Plain City; Mrs. Gertrude Horn of Unionville Center; Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kabealo of Dayton; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel G. Hicks of Cincinnati; Mr. and Mrs. See and family, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Noteman, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Noremman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jinkens, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ingle and son and Mrs. Jack Jule, all of Columbus. Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Purcell, Miss Florence Purcell and William Purcell, all of Bloomingburg.

The new Mrs. Hicks is a graduate of Circleville high school and Lancaster-Fairfield hospital school of nursing, and is now employed by Children's hospital in Columbus.

The bridegroom was graduated by North high school in Columbus and attended Ohio State university where he was pledged to Sigma Chi fraternity. A former member of Columbus Advertising Club and U.S. Navy, he is now associated with Columbus Police Department.

The couple is residing in their new home, West Dunedin Road, in Columbus.

Lois Campbell Is Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman S. Campbell of Williamsport Route 2, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Lois Ann, to Richard P. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Albert Anderson of Mt. Sterling Route 1.

Miss Campbell was graduated by Circleville high school in 1949 and is a junior in Ohio university in Athens where she is associated with Pi Beta Phi sorority.

Anderson was graduated by Mt. Sterling high school with the class of 1948. He is a senior in the college of agriculture, a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity and holds the rank of Airforce Lt. Col., in advanced ROTC at Ohio university.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Candlelight, Fall Flowers Decorate Lutheran Church For Morgan-Hicks Ceremony

Reception Held In Parish House

The soft glow of candlelight on white, yellow and orange chrysanthemums arranged with fernery, decorating the altar in Trinity Lutheran church, was the setting for the wedding of Miss Mary Katherine Morgan and Edward Thomas Hicks.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. George L. Troutman at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, following a half-hour of nuptial music sung by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Edward See of Columbus, a former resident of Circleville, and Mrs. Karl Herrmann at the organ. Aisle pews were marked with 'mums tied with white satin ribbon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt Morgan of East Main street and the bridegroom the son of Mrs. Patrick K. Hicks of Columbus and the late Mr. Patrick Hicks.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a gown of white tulle, trimmed with layers of white Chantilly lace. The full skirt terminated into a long cathedral train and her veil of French illusion was fastened to a tiny hat, banded with orange blossoms and white satin ribbon. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace and she carried a white prayer book topped by an arrangement of gardenias and red rose buds.

Mrs. Leo Morgan, who served her sister-in-law as matron of honor, was wearing a gown of yellow tulle with matching cap and veil. She carried a bouquet of orange chrysanthemums. Bridesmaid was Miss Marjorie Francis, gowned in aqua tulle with matching cap and veil. Her flowers were a bouquet of yellow 'mums. Both attendants were wearing necklaces, gifts of the bride.

Master Larry Morgan, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer. Samuel Hicks of Cincinnati, served as best man for his brother and guests attending the open-church wedding were seated by Leo Morgan, brother of the bride, John Beasley and James Bonham, both of Columbus.

Mrs. Morgan greeted her guests for the reception held in the parish house, wearing a navy blue dress and hat with a corsage of red rose buds. Mrs. Hicks wore a two-piece suit of toast brown with a corsage of yellow rose buds.

White and yellow chrysanthemums were used to decorate the parish house for the reception and

The Hebrews in Slavery

THEY WERE SORE AFFLICTED, BUT
JEHOVAH HEARD THEIR CRIES

Scripture—Exodus 1-2.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

WE ARE beginning a new book in the Bible with this lesson. It is named Exodus, which means "a going out." It tells of the Jews' sufferings under the Pharaohs who "knew not Joseph," and their final return to Canaan.

Seventy souls of Jacob's family accompanied him to Egypt, and many more must have been with them, counting their servants, etc. The generation of Joseph had died. The reigning monarchs had forgotten him, but they were troubled by the fact that from those who had come to Egypt, there had risen a great and mighty people, who might, the reigning Pharaoh thought, take sides with an enemy in case of an attack on the country.

The Pharaoh's first thought was that if he made them work hard enough many might die of exhaustion, so he made them build him two cities, Pithom and Raamses. He set brutal taskmasters over the workers, who kept driving them to their labors.

The Hebrews still multiplied under this cruel treatment, so the Pharaoh next told the Israelite midwives to kill every male child born to a Hebrew mother. The midwives refused, however, because they feared God, and they gave the king the excuse that the Hebrew mothers' babies were born before the midwives arrived.

The next plan to rid the country of Hebrews was a command to all the people, that whenever a male child was born to a Jewish mother, they were to throw it into the Nile. How many helpless infants were sacrificed in that dreadful manner we do not know, but one mother hid her newly-born son, until he was too old to be concealed.

Then she fashioned an ark or basket of bulrushes, made it watertight with pitch, and, after putting the baby into it, she set it among the tall grasses at the side of the river. She posted the child's sister near the spot, to watch and see what became of him.

The Pharaoh's daughter came to the river that morning to bathe, accompanied by her hand-maidens. She saw the ark among the flags and sent a maid to fetch it to her. The baby began to cry, and the princess' heart was touched, so that she decided to adopt it, although she knew it was a Jewish child.

The baby's sister came to the princess then and asked if she should get a Hebrew woman to nurse the child for her. She assented and so the mother nursed the boy and then brought him to the princess, who named him Moses, saying, "Because I drew him out of the water." She adopted the child as her son.

Moses was brought up in the Egyptian court and educated well. He, apparently, never lost touch with his countrymen, however, and as he grew to manhood he fiercely resented the way the Jews were treated.

One day he watched the burdens imposed upon them, and when he saw an Egyptian overseer strike one of his brethren, he became so infuriated that, looking about him and seeing (as he thought) no one looking, he killed the Egyptian and hid his body in the sand.

Someone had seen him, however, and taunted him with the murder next day. Thinking that the thing was known to many, Moses fled from Egypt before the Pharaoh could revenge the deed. He went to Midian.

Now, the priest of Midian had seven daughters whose duty it was to water their father's flock, but some surly and selfish shepherds drove the girls away from the watering troughs.

Moses took their part, and helped them with the watering, proving again his sense of justice, his compassion and willingness to help the oppressed.

When the daughters went home, their father asked them why they came so soon. They told him of the young man who had aided them, and the father demanded to know why they had not brought him with them. "Call him," the father said, "that he may eat bread."

Moses was content to dwell with Reuel, the priest, who gave him one of his daughters, Zipporah, for his wife, and two sons were born of the marriage.

During the time Moses dwelt in Midian, the Pharaoh died. This was the calm period of Moses' life, when undoubtedly Jehovah was maturing and training him for the work He had in store for him.

Meanwhile, the Hebrews, slaves in Egypt, called upon God to release them from their unbearable bondage.

"And God heard their groanings, and God remembered His covenant with Abraham, with Isaac and with Jacob. And God looked upon the children of Israel, and God had respect unto them."

This most persecuted race still possessed its amazing vitality. After 18 centuries of persecution, culminating in the greatest of all in which six million were slain in 10 years, the race still has the strength and ability to set up its own government in the face of great odds, in its own land of Israel.

The Hebrews in Slavery

THEY WERE SORE AFFLICTED, BUT
JEHOVAH HEARD THEIR CRIES

Scripture—Exodus 1-2.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

WE ARE beginning a new book in the Bible with this lesson. It is named Exodus, which means "a going out." It tells of the Jews' sufferings under the Pharaohs who "knew not Joseph," and their final return to Canaan. Seventy souls of Jacob's family accompanied him to Egypt, and many more must have been with them, counting their servants, etc. The generation of Joseph had died. The reigning monarchs had forgotten him, but they were troubled by the fact that from those who had come to Egypt, there had risen a great and mighty people, who might, the reigning Pharaoh thought, take sides with an enemy in case of an attack on the country. The Pharaoh's first thought was that if he made them work hard enough many might die of exhaustion, so he made them build him two cities, Pithom and Raames. He set brutal taskmasters over the workers, who kept driving them to their labors.

The Hebrews still multiplied under this cruel treatment, so the Pharaoh next told the Israelite midwives to kill every male child born to a Hebrew mother. The midwives refused, however, because they feared God, and they gave the king the excuse that the Hebrew mothers' babies were born before the midwives arrived.

The next plan to rid the country of Hebrews was a command to all the people, that whenever a male child was born to a Jewish mother, they were to throw it into the Nile. How many helpless infants were sacrificed in that dreadful manner we do not know, but one mother hid her newly-born son, until he was too old to be concealed.

Then she fashioned an ark of basket of bulrushes, made it waterproof with pitch, and after putting the baby into it, she set it among the tall grasses at the side of the river. She posted the child's sister near the spot, to watch and see what became of him.

The Pharaoh's daughter came to the river that morning to bathe, accompanied by her handmaidens. She saw the ark among the flags and sent a maid to fetch it to her. The baby began to cry, and the princess' heart was touched, so that she decided to adopt it, although she knew it was a Jewish child.

The baby's sister came to the princess then and asked if she should get a Hebrew woman to nurse the child for her. She assented and so the mother nursed the boy and then brought him to the princess, who named him Moses, saying, "Because I drew him out of the water." She adopted the child as her son. Moses was brought up in the Egyptian court and educated well. He, apparently, never lost touch with his countrymen, however, and as he grew to manhood he fiercely resented the way the Jews were treated.

One day he watched the burdens imposed upon them, and when he saw an Egyptian overseer strike one of his brethren, he became so infuriated that, looking about him and seeing (as he thought) no one looking, he killed the Egyptian and hid his body in the sand.

Someone had seen him, however, and taunted him with the murder next day. Thinking that the thing was known to many, Moses fled from Egypt before the Pharaoh could revenge the deed. He went to Midian.

Now, the priest of Midian had seven daughters whose duty it was to water their father's flock, but some surly and selfish shepherds drove the girls away from the watering troughs.

Moses took their part, and helped them with the watering, proving again his sense of justice, his compassion and willingness to help the oppressed.

When the daughters went home, their father asked them why they came so soon. They told him of the young man who had aided them, and the father demanded to know why they had not brought him with them. "Call him," the father said, "that he may eat bread."

Moses was content to dwell with Reuel, the priest, who gave him one of his daughters, Zipporah, for his wife, and two sons were born of the marriage.

During the time Moses dwelt in Midian, the Pharaoh died. This was the calm period of Moses' life, when undoubtedly Jehovah was maturing and training him for the work He had in store for him.

Meanwhile, the Hebrews, slaves in Egypt, called upon God to release them from their unbearable bondage.

"And God heard their groanings, and God remembered His covenant with Abraham, with Isaac and with Jacob. And God looked upon the children of Israel, and God had respect unto them."

This most persecuted race still possesses its amazing vitality. After 18 centuries of persecution, culminating in the greatest of all in which six million were slain in 10 years, the race still has the strength and ability to set up its own government in the face of great odds, in its own land of Israel.

Young Egyptian hotheads today are crying "give us arms" and otherwise scattering sparks in the treaty dispute with Britain. Now the next move clearly is up to the Cairo government.

The British are entrenching themselves daily along the vital Suez Canal waterway, seizing key points and pouring in reinforcements.

The London government has halted all arms shipments to the Egyptian government in retaliation for Egyptian "action threats" in the attempt to expel British troops following Egypt's breaking of the 20-year military treaty signed in 1936.

The British government also has another weapon at its disposal. It could freeze Egypt's large sterling holdings in Britain.

No change in Britain's "stick it" policy is anticipated. Winston Churchill, Conservative Party leader, says he agrees with the Laborite government's "belated policy of firmness."

Hence the next move clearly is that the Egyptian government abrogated the military treaty with Britain, not really hoping to eject the British, but as "a bargaining price" for trying to obtain full control of the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, a territory one-fourth the size of Europe.

But the British are standing firm on the Sudan question, too. They have said the Sudanese people themselves must determine their own political future, not bow to Egyptian "imperialist" plans to make Farouk king of the Sudan.

The British appear to be very confident that they can take care of any attacks by Egyptian troops. In fact, since the poor Egyptian showing in the Palestine war against Israeli troops, the general British military opinion of Egyptian troops is a low one.

The Egyptian government's apparent dilemma is not a new one. It also seems that the government when it rushed through legislation to repudiate the treaty had not prepared plans for all the consequences.

Reports make it clear that nearly all Egyptians want the British to get out of Egypt. But Cairo reports indicate that there was some dismay about the summary rejection tion of the four-power Western bid to Egypt for a new defense alliance.

The four-power offer to include Egypt in a new Mediterranean defense pact on an equal basis offered Nahas Pasha's regime a way out of the present situation.

There was no great public examination, or dissection, of the new defense plan. The government in effect dropped it in the waste basket, refusing to discuss it until the British quit Egypt.

Atwater Avenue Sewer Project Is Completed

Installation of a sanitary sewer extension to service Atwater avenue has been completed by Circleville service department.

Service Director John Neuding

said a total of 278 feet of eight-inch pipe was laid. The new line empties into the North Court street sewer.

Neuding also said that the laying of sanitary sewer pipes from the new Lancaster Pike lift station has been finished.

The lift station itself will be completed after the arrival of interior fittings. Neuding explained that the parts have been on order for some time, but that a shipping mixup apparently has delayed their arrival.

Louis-Marciano Tiff To Tell Tale For Joe

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—Joe Louis, who was defending the heavyweight title when Rocky Marciano was in grade school, will be defending nothing but Joe Louis tonight against a full-grown Marciano who's even vowed to belt him back into retirement.

The old Brown Bomber, at 37 still trying to pay his taxes and still seeking one more shot at the title he relinquished, goes into tonight's scheduled ten-rounder at Madison Square Garden at his shortest price in 18 years and nearly 200 fights.

And even he has confessed that a bad showing tonight will force him out of the ring for good and all. He may change his mind. If he is thinking of staying in the boxing business, Marciano may change it for him.

The 27-year-old son of a Brooklyn, Mass., shoemaker, backed by hordes of loyal New Englanders who'll be among the 15,000 ring-side and countless more viewers, has ripped undefeated through 37 straight opponents.

HIS WALLOPING knockout of Rex Layne, the biggest name he's yet fought, brought him this date with Louis.

Marciano, hardly Louis' equal in weight, reach or experience, has speed, youth and endurance on his side. He also has tremendous punching power.

Most onlookers agree there is only one other man who can equal Marciano's punch in the ring today. That makes tonight's test a potentially good fight, because that other man is Louis.

Iowans Arrive For Test With OSU Buckeyes

COLUMBUS, Oct. 26—Iowa's flying football team landed at Port Columbus early today, ready to do battle with slightly favored Ohio State.

The Hawkeyes, who will run through a last-minute practice session at mid-afternoon, are without two regulars, starting linebacker Mike Riley and first string tackle Albert Johnson.

Riley surprised Iowa officials by turning in his suit just before the team set out from Iowa City for Columbus. Coach Len Raffensperger said Riley reported to one of his assistants yesterday that he was quitting the squad because he had not been given enough chance to play offensive fullback behind Bill Reichardt.

The Hawks had to leave Johnson behind because of a leg injury. Meanwhile, the Buckeyes scheduled a light workout in preparation for their third Big Ten battle tomorrow.

PCL Backs Down On Decision To Bolt Baseball

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26—The Pacific Coast League has backed down on its threat to bolt organized baseball unless freed from the major league draft and a compromise on the issue is expected to be reached shortly.

League directors, who are holding their annual meeting in Los Angeles, voted late yesterday to adopt the proposals submitted by Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick to the major-league executive council in New York.

The proposals were not disclosed in detail, but it was said that they offer the coast league relief from the draft, a new status and an opportunity to advance.

The Frick-proposed compromise is to be put before the December meeting of the minor and major leagues and it was indicated that the PCL would agree to settle on that basis.

Tigers Score Smashing 32-0 Win Over McClain

Circleville's high school football team scored a smashing 32-0 victory over invading Greenfield McClain gridders here Thursday night.

With the same motion, the Tigers rapped on the door in seeking their fourth straight South Central Ohio League championship.

Thursday's win over the McClain clan gave the CHS'ers a record of three victories in as many league starts this season.

And in two weeks the Tigers will play host to invading Washington C. H. Blue Lions, only obstacle between them and their fourth title. The Lions also have three wins, no losses.

IN THURSDAY'S game the Tigers were alive and alert and determined.

And somewhere along through the season the CHS'ers have picked up a potent line, spearheaded by Big Bill Gillis. In Thursday's game they also began delivering the first installment on downfield blocking, although still far from the mastery of the art.

Circleville began its assault against Greenfield Thursday the first time it had possession of the ball, taking over on the Greenfield 47.

On the first play, Paul Hill romped around left end for 29 yards to the Greenfield 18 on a pitchout.

Dave Coffland gained two on the next try, while Jerry Pritchard zipped through on a quick-opener next to put the ball on the three.

After a loss of two and a gain of two by the Tigers, Coffland bulled through right guard for his first tally of the evening. He later scored twice more.

CIRCLEVILLE'S next TD came on the second play of the second quarter when Quarterback Jerry Rooney drifted a 16-yard pass into the arms of Hill in the end zone.

Third Tiger tally came with three minutes of play left in the first half. The play was set up on a Rooney to Charles Johnson pass good for 22 and putting the ball on the Greenfield 20. Rooney passed to Cook for 6 and three plays later tossed a screen pass to Coffland, who weaved around left end for a 14-yard touchdown.

The Tigers scored again with 37 seconds left in the half when a Rooney to Johnson pass was good to the Greenfield two-yard stripe.

Johnson, who had been pulling in passes all evening, reached above the heads of two d-fenders to pull down the Rooney pitch for the score setup. Coffland hit the line twice for the touchdown, earning a yard each try.

Final score of the game came in the fourth period with a bout eight minutes of playing time remaining.

A SERIES of Rooney passes deposited the ball on the Greenfield one-yard-line, where Halfback Jerry Pritchard took over to reach paydirt.

Circleville's bench was cleaned of substitutes during the contest, including a group of youngsters who played on the junior Tiger team this Fall.

Circleville will clash with one of its toughest 1951 opponents next Friday night when it travels to Westerville for its final "away" game. The following Friday it will play host to invading Washington C. H. in its final game of the season.

Xavier-Dayton Tilt Tops Ohio College Program

COLUMBUS, Oct. 26—The annual "fever pitch" battle between Xavier and Dayton U at Cincinnati today cops the number one spot in this weekend's Ohio college football schedule.

The eleven, two of the state's five unbeaten, clash Sunday with evenly matched forces that should provide thrilling action and low scoring.

Running a close second will be the highly-important Mid-American contest between first place Kent State and Ohio University Saturday at Athens.

Ohio's other three undefeated squads play independent games Saturday. Cincinnati hosts Texas Western while Heidelberg plays at Indiana State and Muskingum meets Denison. Each should win.

THE MUSKETEE-Flyer tilt will be anybody's contest. Both teams sport strong offense and tight defense and a nicely-balanced aerial and ground attack.

Dayton's quarterback, Frank Higgins, has flipped 11 touchdown aeriels and Xavier's George Gilmartin has tossed eight for scores. Both boys are T-masters.

Xavier has amassed 186 points in its five wins and a tie against 40 for the opposition, while Dayton has tallied 151 against 48.

In the Mid-American game, Kent State will get its key test against Ohio University's Bobcats. The Golden Flashes are unbeaten in loop play and have a 3-1 season record against the Bobcats' four wins and a loss, the defeat in the league.

Kent, which shares the lead spot with Miami, staved off defeat in the dying seconds last week to come up with a 14-all tie with Morris Harvey, while the Bobcats dropped their first game of the season to Miami 7-0. Both should be up this week.

Miami hikes to Milwaukee Saturday for its first game with Marquette, which has been playing a much rougher schedule than the invader and will not be awed by the Redskins' four wins in five starts.

Two unbeaten leaders also tangle in the Ohio Conference. Ohio Wesleyan, with only one loss this season and two victories in loop play, defends its lead spot at Oberlin. The host eleven has won one in the conference and has a record of three wins in four starts.

And here is the pay-off: "By creating fresh obstacles to the diplomatic recognition of Communist China, it helped set the stage for the grave crisis in Chinese-American relations that was to occur later in the year. In the meantime it aggravated public confusion at home, undermined the reputation of honest and able officials, aggravated the sense of personal insecurity that pervaded the government service, and contributed to a wave of anti-Communist hysteria which already threatened to engulf the country. By its methods it offered confirmatory evidence to those abroad who professed to see in the United States a land of thinly veiled reaction."

President Truman and Dean Acheson and the whole State Department have been denying precisely that. They have been insisting that they never wanted to recognize Communist China and the President practically called General MacArthur a liar for saying the contrary. But here is a book that is issued under such high auspices which makes it clear that but for such creatures as Joe McCarthy and Alfred Kohlberg, Communist China would have been recognized.

These scholars and experts of State Department affiliations ought to get together sometimes and decide on what they actually do believe.

Carolina Scores 20-0 Upset Win

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 26—Line-men on South Carolina's football team were hailed today for the Gamecocks' 20 to 0 upset victory over powerful Clemson.

The Tigers were held scoreless for the first time in 40 games and South Carolina defensive players also accounted for two of the three touchdowns in the traditional state fair battle at Columbia.

Center Gene Cunningham set up one score by recovering a fumble on the Clemson 26-yard line. Another Carolina center, Harry Habbusch ran 13 yards for the final score after intercepting a Clemson pass. The first touchdown came on a 74-yard punt return by Billy Stephens.

Japanese House OKs Treaty, Pact

TOKYO, Oct. 26—The Japanese house of representatives today ratified the San Francisco peace treaty and the Japanese-American security pact.

The count on the peace treaty was 307 to 47 and on the security pact, signed in San Francisco the same day as the treaty, the count was 289 to 71. Both must still be ratified by the house of councilors.

Wee Texan Boots Home 3 Winners

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—Willie Shoemaker just keeps bootin' winners across the finish line. The wee Texan came home aboard three more winners yesterday at Jamaica to boost his total for six days of action to 16. Shoemaker won the first aboard Upsetter, the fourth on All's Fair and the sixth aboard Lambert.

Louis-Marciano Tiff To Tell Tale For Joe

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—Joe Louis, who was defending the heavyweight title when Rocky Marciano was in grade school, will be defending nothing but Joe Louis tonight against a full-grown Marciano who's even money to belt him back into retirement.

The old Brown Bomber, at 37 still trying to pay his taxes and still seeking one more shot at the title he relinquished, goes into tonight's scheduled ten-rounder at Madison Square Garden at his shortest price in 18 years and nearly 200 fights.

And even he has confessed that a bad showing tonight will force him out of the ring for good and all. He may change his mind. If he is thinking of staying in the boxing business, Marciano may change it for him.

The 27-year-old son of a Brockton, Mass., shoemaker, backed by hordes of loyal New Englanders who'll be among the 15,000 ring-siders and countless more televiewers, has ripped undefeated through 37 straight opponents.

HIS WALLOPING knockout of Rex Layne, the biggest name he's yet fought, brought him this date with Louis.

Marciano, hardly Louis' equal in weight, reach or experience, has speed, youth, and endurance on his side. He also has tremendous punching power.

Most onlookers agree there is only one other man who can equal Marciano's punch in the ring today. That makes tonight's test a potentially good fight, because that other man is Louis.

Iowans Arrive For Test With OSU Buckeyes

COLUMBUS, Oct. 26—Iowa's flying football team landed at Port Columbus early today, ready to do battle with slightly favored Ohio State.

The Hawkeyes, who will run through a last-minute practice session at mid-afternoon, are without two regulars, starting linebacker Mike Riley and first string tackle Ruben Johnston.

Riley surprised Iowa officials by turning in his suit just before the team set out from Iowa City for Columbus. Coach Len Raffensperger said Riley reported to one of his assistants yesterday that he was quitting the squad because he had not been given enough chance to play offensive fullback behind Bill Reichardt.

The Hawks had to leave Johnston behind because of a leg injury.

Meanwhile, the Buckeyes scheduled a light workout in preparation for their third Big Ten battle tomorrow.

PCL Backs Down On Decision To Bolt Baseball

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26—The Pacific Coast League has backed down on its threat to bolt organized baseball unless freed from the major league draft and a compromise on the issue is expected to be reached shortly.

League directors, who are holding their annual meeting in Los Angeles, voted late yesterday to adopt the proposals submitted by Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick to the major-league executive council in New York.

The proposals were not disclosed in detail, but it was said that they offer the coast league relief from the draft, a new status and an opportunity to advance.

The Frick-proposed compromise is to be put before the December meeting of the minor and major leagues and it was indicated that the PCL would agree to settle on that basis.

Tigers Score Smashing 32-0 Win Over McClain

Circleville's high school football team scored a smashing 32-0 victory over invading Greenfield McClain gridders here Thursday night.

With the same motion, the Tigers rapped on the door in seeking their fourth straight South Central Ohio League championship.

Thursday's win over the McClain clan gave the CHS'ers a record of three victories in as many league starts this season.

And in two weeks the Tigers will play host to invading Washington C. H. Blue Lions, only obstacle between them and their fourth title. The Lions also have three wins, no losses.

IN THURSDAY'S game the Tigers were alive and alert and determined.

And somewhere along through the season the CHS'ers have picked up a potent line, spearheaded by Big Bill Gillis. In Thursday's game they also began delivering the first installment on downfield blocking, although still far from the mastery of the art.

Circleville began its assault against Greenfield Thursday the first time it had possession of the ball, taking over on the Greenfield 47.

On the first play, Paul Hill romped around left end for 29 yards to the Greenfield 18 on a pitchout.

Dave Coffland gained two on the next try, while Jerry Pritchard zipped through on a quick-escape next to put the ball on the three.

After a loss of two and a gain of two by the Tigers, Coffland bulled through right guard for his first tally of the evening. He later scored twice more.

CIRCLEVILLE'S next TD came on the second play of the second quarter when Quarterback Jerry Rooney drifted a 16-yard pass into the arms of Hill in the end zone.

Third Tiger tally came with three minutes of play left in the first half. The play was set up on a Rooney to Charles Johnson pass good for 22 and putting the ball on the Greenfield 20. Rooney passed to Cook for 6 and three plays later tossed a screen pass to Coffland, who weaved around left end for a 14-yard touchdown.

The Tigers scored again with 37 seconds left in the half when a Rooney to Johnson pass was good to the Greenfield two-yard stripe.

Johnson, who had been pulling in passes all evening, reached above the heads of two d-fenders to pull down the Rooney pitch for the score setup. Coffland hit the line twice for the touchdown, earning a yard each try.

Final score of the game came in the fourth period with a bout eight minutes of playing time remaining.

A SERIES of Rooney passes deposited the ball on the Greenfield one-yard-line, where Halfback Jerry Pritchard took over to reach paydirt.

Circleville's bench was cleaned of substitutes during the contest, including a group of youngsters who played on the junior Tiger team this Fall.

Circleville will clash with one of its toughest 1951 opponents next Friday night when it travels to Westerville for its final "away" game. The following Friday it will play host to invading Washington C. H. in its final game of the season.

Xavier-Dayton Tilt Tops Ohio College Program

COLUMBUS, Oct. 26—The annual "fever pitch" battle between Xavier and Dayton U at Cincinnati today cops the number one spot in this weekend's Ohio college football schedule.

The eleven, two of the state's five unbeaten, clash Sunday with evenly matched forces that should provide thrilling action and low scoring.

Running a close second will be the highly-important Mid-American contest between first place Kent State and Ohio University Saturday at Athens.

Ohio's other three undefeated squads play independent games Saturday. Cincinnati hosts Texas Western while Heidelberg plays at Indiana State and Muskingum meets Denison. Each should win.

THE MUSKETEER-Flyer tilt will be anybody's contest. Both teams sport strong offense and tight defense and a nicely-balanced aerial and ground attack.

Dayton's quarterback, Frank Siggins, has flipped 11 touchdown aeriels and Xavier's George Gilmartin has tossed eight for scores. Both boys are T-masters.

Xavier has amassed 186 points in its five wins and a tie against 34 for the opposition, while Dayton has tallied 151 against 48.

In the Mid-American game, Kent State will get its key test against Ohio University's Bobcats. The Golden Flashes are unbeaten in loop play and have a 3-1 season record against the Bobcats' four wins and a loss, the defeat in the league.

Kent, which shares the lead spot with Miami, staved off defeat in the dying seconds last week to come up with a 14-all tie with Morris Harvey, while the Bobcats dropped their first game of the season to Miami 7-0. Both should be up this week.

Miami hikes to Milwaukee Saturday for its first game with Marquette, which has been playing a much rougher schedule than the invader and will not be awed by the Redskins' four wins in five starts.

Two unbeaten leaders also tangle in the Ohio Conference, Ohio Wesleyan, with only one loss this season and two victories in loop play, defends its lead spot at Oberlin. The host eleven has won one in the conference and has a record of three wins in four starts.

Other games include: Quantico Marines at John Carroll; Ashland at Bluffton; Kenyon at Capital; Georgetown at Wittenberg; Toledo at Bowling Green; Wilmington at Cedarville; Lincoln at Central State; Hiram at Bethany; Western Reserve at Washington; Findlay at Olivet; Mt. Union at Slippery Rock; Carnegie Tech at Case; and Akron at Wooster.

Shoemaker won the first aboard Upsetter, the fourth on All's Fair and the sixth aboard Lambert.

And here is the pay-off:

"By creating fresh obstacles to the diplomatic recognition of Communist China, it helped set the stage for the grave crisis in Chinese-American relations that was to occur later in the year. In the meantime it aggravated public confusion at home, undermined the reputation of honest and able officials, aggravated the sense of personal insecurity that pervaded the government service, and contributed to a wave of anti-Communist hysteria which already threatened to engulf the country. By its methods it offered confirmatory evidence to those abroad who professed to see in the United States a land of thinly veiled reaction."

President Truman and Dean Acheson and the whole State Department have been denying precisely that. They have been insisting that they never wanted to recognize Communist China and the President practically called General MacArthur a liar for saying the contrary. But here is a book that is issued under such high auspices which makes it clear that but for such creatures as Joe McCarthy and Alfred Kohlberg, Communist China would have been recognized.

These scholars and experts of State Department affiliations ought

Carolina Scores 20-0 Upset Win

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 26—Line-men on South Carolina's football team were hailed today for the Gamecocks' 20 to 0 upset victory over powerful Clemson.

The Tigers were held scoreless for the first time in 40 games and South Carolina defensive players also accounted for two of the three touchdowns in the traditional state fair battle at Columbia.

Center Gene Cunningham set up one score by recovering a fumble on the Clemson 26-yard line. Another Carolina center, Harry Habbush ran 13 yards for the final score after intercepting a Clemson pass. The first touchdown came on a 74-yard punt return by Billy Stephens.

Japanese House OKs Treaty, Pact

TOKYO, Oct. 26—The Japanese house of representatives today ratified the San Francisco peace treaty and the Japanese-American security pact.

The count on the peace treaty was 307 to 47 and on the security pact, signed in San Francisco the same day as the treaty, the count was 289 to 71. Both must still be ratified by the house of councilors.
